A Special Recognition and Thank You

If there's one thing all business owners have in common, it's a relentless pursuit of excellence. Whether it's a restaurant aiming to serve the best burger in town or a carpenter crafting heirloom-quality furniture from the finest wood, we all want to deliver something exceptional. As a financial advisor, that pursuit has always meant providing thoughtful, high-quality advice and comprehensive personalized service catering to your unique needs.

That was my goal when I started this journey 28 years ago, and it remains my guiding principle today. I'm proud to share that this commitment to building a practice rooted in integrity and excellence has led to an incredible honor: I've been recognized on AdvisorHub's 2025 list of 100 Women Advisors to Watch.*

Each year, AdvisorHub selects 1,000 outstanding advisors across several categories. I'm deeply honored to be ranked #44 nationwide out of 100 extraordinary and equally dedicated women.

Advisors are evaluated on three key pillars:

- Scale and quality of practice
- Year-over-year growth
- Overall professionalism

More than anything, this recognition reflects the trust and relationships I've been fortunate to build with clients like you. It's a privilege to walk alongside you in your financial journey, and I remain deeply committed to delivering the same level of quality, care, and personalized service you've come to expect. Your goals are my priority, and I'm excited to continue serving you with excellence.
